NHIA cancels 2020 Annual Conference following public health concerns

Alexandria, Va. (March 11, 2020) — The National Home Infusion Association (NHIA) has made the decision to cancel the 2020 Annual Conference at the Gaylord Rockies Resort & Convention Center in Denver, Colorado, scheduled for April 5-9, 2020.

NHIA has been closely monitoring the COVID-19 situation in the U.S. and understands the important role association members play in providing healthcare products and services to high-risk populations that are vulnerable to the virus.

The decision was made out of concern for the safety of attendees and in response to public health advisories to limit travel and large gatherings where increased exposure to the virus is likely to occur.

“Each year, NHIA has been proud and excited to gather with the home and specialty infusion community at our annual conference, offering an unparalleled opportunity to network and learn about the latest industry practices, products, and services,” said NHIA President & CEO Connie Sullivan, BSPHarm. “I want to thank everyone that has been working tirelessly to ensure a fantastic conference.”

NHIA will continue to monitor the virus and assess options for providing virtual content or holding the conference later in 2020.

*NHIA is a trade association that represents companies that provide infusion therapy to patients in their homes, as well as companies that manufacture and supply infusion and specialty pharmacy products. Infusion therapy involves patient-specific compounded medications, supplies, and a range of pharmacy, nursing, and other clinical services for delivering care to patients in the home setting.
