Alexandria, Va. (May 12, 2021) –The National Home Infusion Association (NHIA) has announced the incoming members of the associations' board of directors.

NHIA's incoming board chair is Tim Affeldt, PharmD, Vice President of Specialty and Infusion Operations for Fairview Pharmacy Services. Affeldt will be filling the position as outgoing Board Chair Logan Davis, PharmD, Director of Franchise Development for Vital Care, steps down from the role.

"I have enjoyed my time serving as the NHIA Board Chair and am pleased with the growth in the association and the home and specialty infusion industry over the past two years. The work NHIA does is critical to ensuring that patients have access to quality home infusion services, and I am proud that the association is in a strong position to lead the industry into the future," said Davis.

Affeldt has served on NHIA's board since 2017 and has more than a decade of home and specialty infusion industry experience. In his role as the Board Chair, Affeldt will provide strategic guidance alongside other board members, helping the association in expanding its reach and impact on the industry.

"I'm excited to start my work as the incoming NHIA Board Chair and look forward to building on the terrific work of the staff and board members to advance the home and specialty infusion industry. This is an exciting time for the home infusion industry, and I am optimistic about the role NHIA members will play as health care expands into the home setting," said Affeldt.

The board will also have two incoming members: Andy Copeland, Chief Executive Officer for ARJ Infusion Services and Todd Pledger, Director of Operations and Pharmacy Services for Harbin Clinic, LLC.

"We are pleased to have such a diverse and dedicated group of home and specialty infusion leaders serving on the NHIA Board of Directors. The home and specialty infusion industry is experiencing unprecedented growth and the board provides invaluable guidance toward advancing our mission to ensure all patients have equitable access to infusion services," said NHIA's President & CEO Connie Sullivan, BSPHarm.
