National Home Infusion Association announces new members on board of directors

Alexandria, Va. (May 8, 2020) – The National Home Infusion Association (NHIA) is proud to announce that Kathleen Patrick, John C. Rademacher, and Michael Zeglinski have joined the association’s Board of Directors.

The new Board members were installed last month along with other members of the 2020-2021 body. Leaving NHIA’s board are; Cliff Berman, RPh, MBA, JD of Option Care Health, Janice Wilhelm, MBA, RN of Advanced Home Care, and Ted Kramm, RPh of Optum Infusion.

Kathleen Patrick is president of UPMC Community Pharmacies and Chartwell Pennsylvania. Her career includes more than 35 years of experience in creating and leading post-acute services. Her primary focus is the growth and expansion—both within and outside the UPMC Health System and UPMC Health Plan—of infusion, specialty, retail, and institutional pharmacy operations. Patrick is a veteran of UPMC with more than 20 years of experience developing joint ventures with regional and national partners in the post-acute space, with the goal of expanding services and increasing overall quality.

John C. Rademacher, MBA is president and CEO of Option Care Health. He has nearly two decades of experience in health care successfully deploying technology solutions and expanding professional services capabilities. He joined Option Care Health in 2015 as COO where he transformed the company’s operating model through investment in people, process, technology and facilities.

Michael Zeglinski is Senior Vice President of OptumRx and CEO of Avella and Optum Specialty Pharmacies. He has more than 30 years of experience in health care and pharmacy services, holding leadership roles with regional providers including Quantum Health Resources and Gentiva Health. Prior to joining Optum, Zeglinski was with CVS Caremark, first as Vice President of Pharmacy Operations and moving into strategic initiatives and business performance management.

“I would like to thank the departing NHIA board members for their time and expertise over the course of their respective terms. NHIA has transformed to meet a variety of challenges and benefited greatly from their leadership,” said NHIA Board President Logan Davis, PharmD, MBA. “I look forward to serving with the professionals newly installed to NHIA’s board. They bring talent and insights that will be invaluable as NHIA continues to develop and chart a course for the future of the association.”

*NHIA is a trade association that represents companies that provide infusion therapy to patients in their homes, as well as companies that manufacture and supply infusion and specialty pharmacy products. The association’s mission is to provide advocacy, education, and resources to the home and specialty infusion community so the patients they serve can lead healthy, independent lives. Infusion therapy involves patient-specific compounded medications, supplies, and a range of pharmacy, nursing, and other clinical services for delivering care to patients in the home setting.
